Saturday November 26, 1960

Dear Cousin Burleigh:-

I make haste to answer your last letter and to appologise for more or less accusing^{ing} of having some documents of mine re Pecks that are still in my possession.

First I do not know the geography of New York & New Jersey well enough to appreciate your hypothesis re James Peck Sr. He and Samuel seemed to have kept close together. Samuel had married Rachael Slater and she was born at Harlem N.J. and buried at Schraalenburg. Rachael's line was Bussing, Waldron, Vermilye, Delmatier, Du Bois with the Delamater line coming in twice.

The Pecks tried to recover the Harlem estates and had all the history of the family at one time but it got lost in a fire at Albury

I have tried to salvage what I could and have a complete record of the Peck descendants of Jacobus Jr. whose son James born at Albury was locally called "Cos" Peck and his sister Mary that married the John Weese of whom I have so far been unable to get satisfactory proof of his parentage and of which Mrs. Rae Roblin is a descendant was called Polly all of which helps with confusion.

The main line of true Pecks of which I could not find any linkage, are descended from a Rev Peck that came to America in the Winthrop Fleet (1620-1640) and the Hasting sCounty Pecks are descended from him.: thus so much confusion .

Also I do not know Nova Scotia & N. B. well enough to dispute any of your theories, all of which may be correct.

Jacobus Jr. was born in 1759. From what I can gather he had an uncle Samuel that was his father-in-law, a cousin Samuel of Sophiasburgh that married Judith Parliament (orders in council 1798 & 1817) and a son Samuel that married Letty Bonter in 1807 (family record.)

In his wife's family the descendants had the same names but they married different people and the Pecks of Sophiasburg were also just as prolific for a time as those of Ameliasburgh. The information is probably around but despite my pleading all I get is promises and I have not the time to go and get it myself.

It would pay you to spend a day with your wife in the quiet of our dinning room just seeing what I have, but it would still be better if it were all in a proper research library in our to be museum, with yourself as archivist until such time as it is organized with trained & competent liabrarians in your wake.

I do appreciate very much your interest in the Peacks, please come and see just what I have got in this matter as well as many other families. Incidentally I am helping The Belleville Lodge # 123 to start their history of their first one hundred years as well as Moira # 11 with their 160th Birthday next year.

Sincerely & best wishes

Allen

P.S. I have at last got copies of the Mullet letters 1821 to 1859. one of the girls married a Haight and they describe daily life at Adolphustown, Picton and Moira back of Belleville. Interested?

Perhaps we note on Nova Scotia for Peacks as Samuel is not mentioned for N B

M B. Jacobus had to marry his cousin
Elizabeth & he left it a little late. Elizabeth was 20 when married & the families probably didn't approve of first cousins getting married until it became necessary.

why not come up here & see some books
for you?

Bath, Ont., 23 Nov., 1960.

Dear Cousin Dempsey:

I have received your letter with enclosures. I wish to digest the booklet on the Loyalists. Shall return it anon, with thanks.

My main reason for replying so soon is because there is some confusion regarding the Peaks, Piecks, Peeks, Pecks. I shall tackle the items, one by one.

Item one. Kingsborough Patent, obtained from the Mohawks by Sir William Johnson, lies immediately north of Johnstown, New York, in the present Montgomery County. It was inherited by Sir John Johnson in 1774, on Sir William's death.

A James Peck was renting 100 acres there in March, 1775.

A Caleb Peck was renting 100 acres in Sept., 1780.

Caleb Peck we know about. He served in Sir John Johnson's Regiment, and was in Kingston with his family in 1797.

Item 2.

The James Peck, of Kingsborough Patent in 1775, appears to have been the person of the same name in New Brunswick. As you will note, the New Brunswick James had come from the 'Mohawk, New York.' If so, he must have gone to New Brunswick in 1783, when New York was evacuated. He was, at first, at Parrottown (Saint John), later going up the St. John River to the vicinity of Gagetown, in Queen's County. Did he remain there? I wonder. no. returned

Item 3.

Your Jacobus (James) Peck was born, or lived, at Schraalenburgh, New Jersey. I suppose you mean both senior and junior. Since James, senior, was with Guides and Pioneers (instead of Engineers, or both), he must have gone to New Brunswick with the other evacuees from New York, unless you have a better answer.

The next you tell of them they were in Sophiasburgh in 1797--they had been in Upper Canada for two years, i.e., 1795. earliest

My question is this: Where were they from 1783 to 1795? What is the ~~latest~~ date for this family, I mean James, Senior, after 1783? Where was he between 1775 and 1783? or Oct., 1785, when James, junior, was married?

Item 4.

According to the petition of James Peck, junior, his only reason for being entitled to land was that he had married the daughter of 'Captain' Samuel Peck. It seems as if, had he been himself a soldier, he would have said so in his petition. From this one may assume that he was too young, in the period 1777-1782, to serve. If so, then he must have gone to Nova Scotia, or New Brunswick, with his father. His name does not appear in the New Brunswick Loyalists. I have not seen the Nova Scotia Loyalist List--his name might be there. However, assuming that the James Peck, from Mohawk, New York, who went to New Brunswick in 1783, was the father of the James, junior, who married Samuel's daughter. Then, it is easy to assume that James, junior, was at St. John in 1783. If so, and, hearing that his Uncle Samuel, with pretty, attractive Elizabeth, was across the Bay of Fundy at Granville, N. S., what would be more natural than that he cross the Bay and claim her as his bride. Then, not liking the cold, dull Nova Scotia climate, he returned to New York by 1792, and to Canada by 1795. Granville

If you have anything official to dispute my reasoning, then trot it out. Otherwise, I shall assume that James, of Kingsborough Patent in 1775, is the same as James Peck, of St. John, in 1783, and the James, senior of Sophiasburgh in 1795. Put that in your pipe for digestion. Schraalenburgh, Elizabeth married the ferry

P.S. Petition will return with booklet

Dear Cousin Dempsey:

I have received your letter with enclosures. I wish to digest the booklet on the Loyalists. Shall return it anon, with thanks.

My main reason for replying so soon is because there is some confusion regarding the Peaks, Piecks, Peeks, Pecks. I shall tackle the items, one by one.

Dear Cousin Burleigh

Thank you for your of Nov ember 14th with all it's information. I already have a copy of Loyalists of New Brunswick, also Loyalist Centennial Souvenir 1783-1883, Simon Baxter (The first United Empire Loyalist to settle in New Brunswick), & Sir Brook Watson, Friend of the Loyalists, First Agent of New Brunswick in London. In addition I have the Historical & Genealogical Record of the First Settlers of Colchester County (Truro, April 1873), & Historical of the Families of the Name of Blackin the back of which is a chapter entitled Settlers from New England, Those that remained after the the Revol. War were Gay, Desbarres, Morse, Barron, Huston, Baker, Bent, Chappell, Watson Ayer, etc.

I don't think you have our Pecks at all. Jacobus & Samuel Peack were originally from Schraalenburg, Bergen County East Jersey and ran a ferry there. James or Jacobus and family were at Granville N.S. in 1785 because the son Jacobus married Samuel's daughter Elizabeth there on October 2nd 1785 and the 1st children were born as follows
Wellempy (girl) born at Granville N.S. Dec. 5th. 1785
Samuel " " Sept. 29th. 1787
Margaret " New York city Mar. 16th 1792
Rachel " Green Pt., Sophiasburg, Sept. 29, 1798 (lot 22)
Mary " Dempsey's (Albury) Sept. 19 1800,
Jr.

Jacobus Peacker. and his wife Elizabeth (his first cousin) purchased lot 93, 1st con Ameliasburg and moved there March 1st 1800. having previously moved from Tappan East Jersey to Sophiasburgh in 1795. along with his father Jacobus and brother Samuel both of whom remained in Sophiasburgh.

Cornelius Peack was a son of Jacobus Peack (James Peck) and petitioned for land dated Sophiasburg 10th of May 1798, also James or Jacobus Peck or Peack on the same date, same place after having been settled in this province two years and he served during the "late war in the Guides and Pioners at New York.

Caleb Peck of Kinston petitioned for land July 1797, he was in the Royal Yorkers, His son Cornelius Peck also petitioned for land in July 1797 at Kingston.

N.B. I f my memory is correct, I left you or lent a photostat copy of Samuel Peacks petition along with his affidavit pertaining to his service. Dig down big boy and search: I would like it returned.

Many Loyalist that came from N.B. to Ont. were former members of the Queen's Rangers and came here at the urging of Simcoe, their old Commander.

Where is Kingsborough, in N.B. or Ont.?

I am enclosing a letter to show you that I have attempted to make diligent research of the Pecks but much of it has been lost right here in Albury by fire etc.

You will find plenty of material for refutation of Mr. Fred Norman's diatribe in the United Empire Loyalist (Sept. John N.B. May 18th. 1893) which I am enclosing but want returned please. Otherwise come and look my library over, it has books in it not in the archives and fairley rare. I think that if we could get our library, it would in time become a Mecca for research historians but Gooding agreed with me that we need a qualified person in charge and I suggested you. I value my books at over $2000.00 and I wanted assurance that they have adequate supervision before I let them out of my possession.

W. A. Dempsey

Norman could be used for libel to our ancestors.

Dear Cousin Dempsey:

Received your letter, with return of paper re Bath.

My apologies for not doing something about the negatives before you had to remind me of them. It must be put down to carelessness or ~~my~~ neglect. I am enclosing them and trust that they are all there.

I am also enclosing a peace offering, which, I hope, is a scoop, as far as you are concerned. The first, as you can see, is rent roll for Sir John Johnson's Kingsborough Patent. This James Peck is undoubtedly your James, Sr. Remember that James, Jr., born in 1759, was, in 1775, only sixteen years of age. So, he was not the tenant. The Caleb, the tenant from 1780 was he who was later in Sir John Johnson's regiment, and who was in Kingston in 1797 with wife and children.

James Cornelius Walker
I recently bought a copy of Loyalists of New Brunswick. On reviewing the list of Loyalists who went there from New York, I found several Pecks, one of whom James, came from the Mohawk Valley, New York. Evidently he saw service in the Engineers, later going to New Brunswick. If he is your James, as I stringly suspect he was, then the author did not know that he eventually ended up in the Bay of Quinte region.

It is surprising to find that many of our so-called 'Late Loyalists,' those coming during the 1790s, were originally refugees who went to Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. This book lists a number of them--Hudgins, Andrews, Ansley, Barnum, William Bedell, Berdan, Booth, Bradley, Bradshaw, William Casey, Gilbert, Mabee, McNabb, Nash, Peters, Quinn, Rednor, Reynolds, Sinclair, Smith, Street, Thorne, Tuttle, Valteau, Van Allen, etc.

If you should be in the market for a copy, you will find Mrs. Wright's address on the accompanying sheet.

I am wondering what you thought about 'r. Gooding's talk on the new idea about our museum. If everything goes along as expected, it will be different and most educating to the general public, which, I often suspect, considers us a bunch of woosies. That's my new words for the 'queer ones.' As a sample of other people's thinking, I am enclosing a 'letter to the Editor,' which, when you have digested it, please return. In any event, if you have or know about anything which might assist us in demonstrating the struggle of our ancestors up to 1837, the gift or loan would be appreciated.

Now I shall close, with best wishes to the Doctor, yourself and family.

Sincerely,

Dear Cousin Dempsey:

You are very fortunate in that I decided to keep a duplicate copy of the legends for those two copies of Bath. You are also fortunate in that I was able to find them in the welter of papers, pictures, books and trash that litter my room. You are also fortunate to have such an understanding wife. She has only one fault, which I noticed last night, she serves coffee without a spoon!

Please return these notes after they have served their purpose. I warn you that, if you do not, I am a good hunter.

Sincerely,

me

Dear Cousin Metcalfe-:

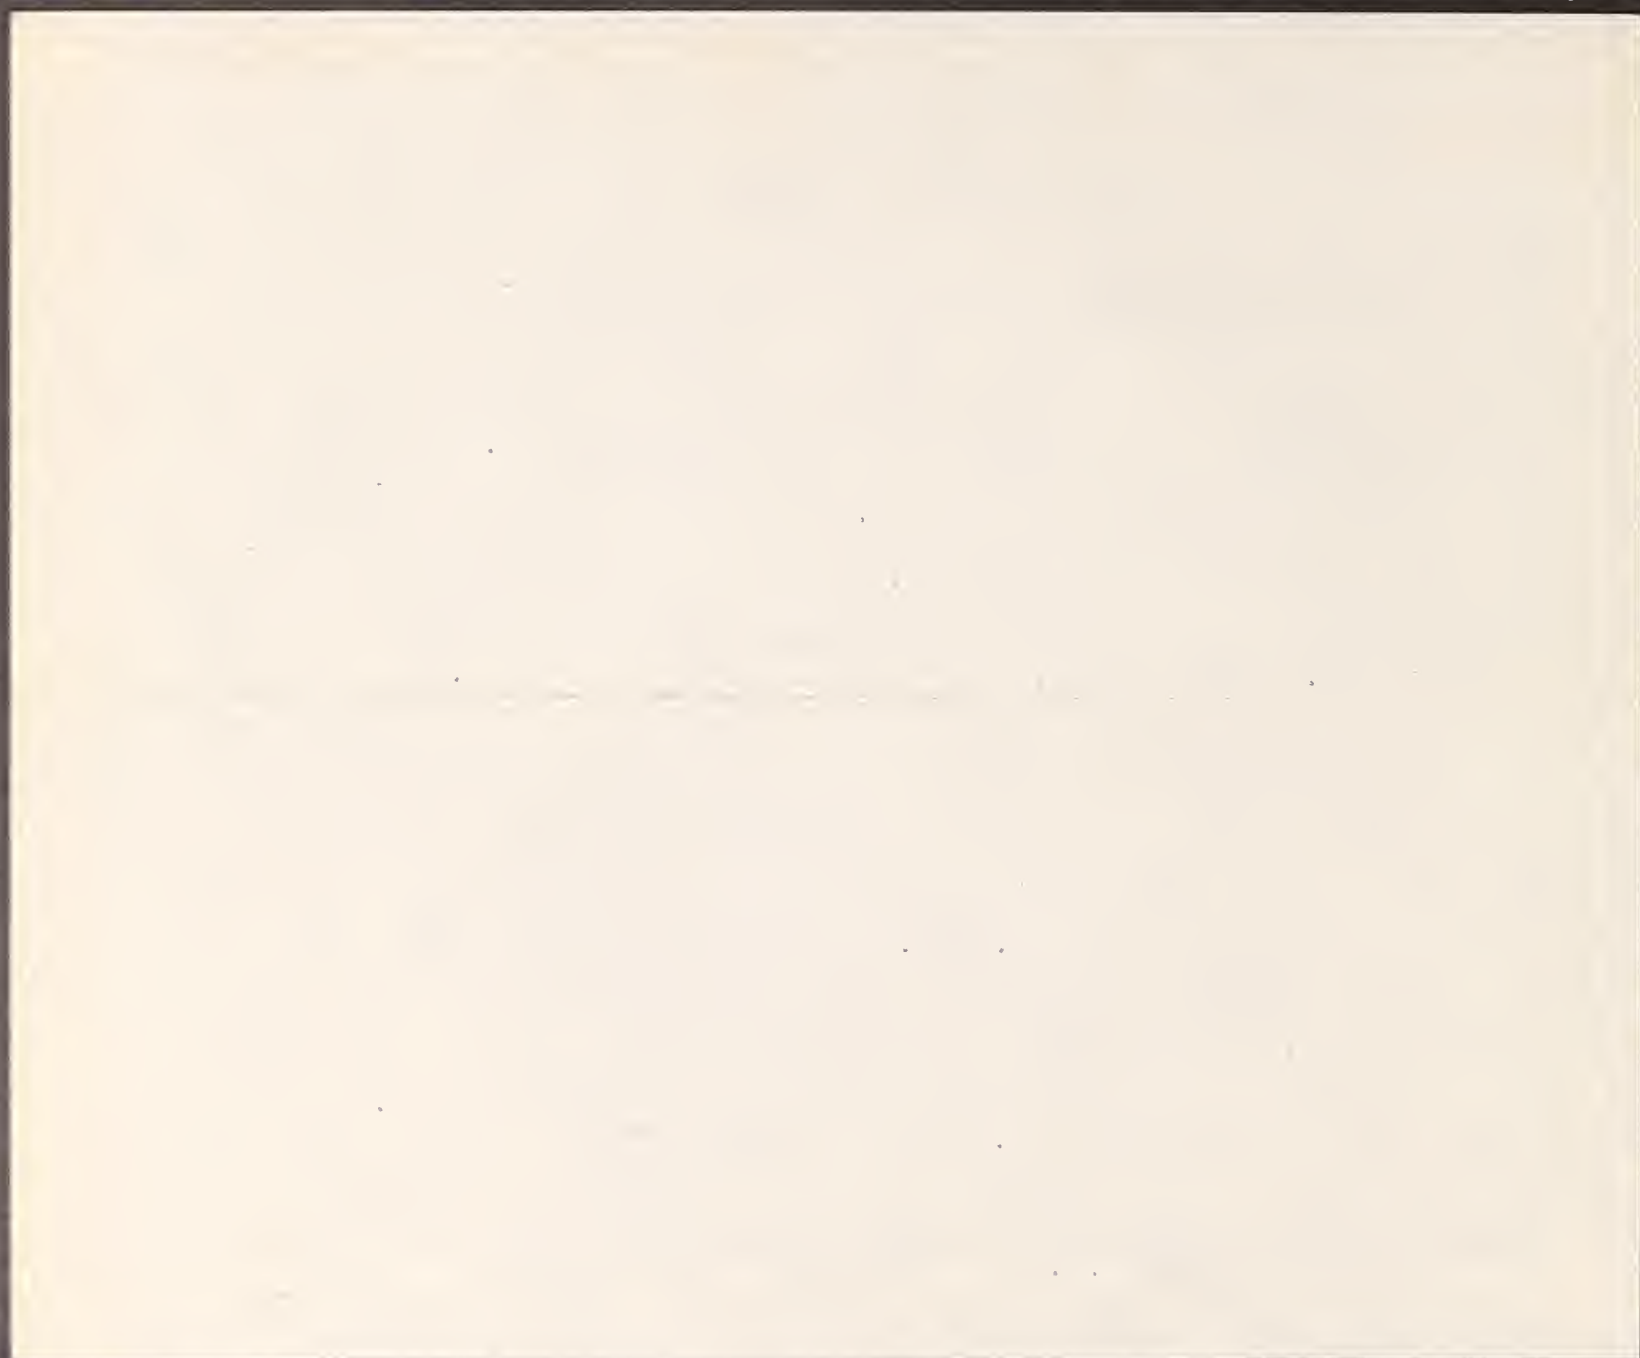

I appreciate being fortunate and to prevent a sudden return of Oct. 31st., I straightforth had two photostatic copies made of your notes and I am returning them forthwith before they get lost in my welter of papers, books and trash that litter my desk. I also in return congratulate you on being able to hold the affections of such a fine woman as your wife who so kindly consented to chivy you if needs be on my urgent behalf; to her my most sincere thanks.

PLEASE DO NOT LOSE MY NEGATIVES OF THESE PICTURES

Also permit me to bring to your attention that official Titles such as U.E. take precedence over degrees

Thanks a lot Noble Cousin.

Col. H.C. Burleigh U.F., M. D., C.M.
Path', Ont.

Dear Cousin Metcalfe & Bro. among M^s. :-

Your letter and valuable information arrived yesterday. As I had assisted in revealing the brink of death but the night before and was preparing or rather assisting my memory to communicate the S^s of the M.F.M. that very evening and having been informed of your own trek across the sands to obtain your own first view of the ancient and colourful shrine of renown I of course had to remind myself of the lecture in the S.F. angle as well as the final charge in the F.C. which I expect to give in March, and thus viewed the contents of your splendid research in the light that you intended.

As Mrs. Shelley Wees is so parsimonious as to leave off the final "e" you certainly didn't expect a "woman" of her talents to take the word of a "mere country bumpkin" did you?. For my part, I think you are hiding your "light under too thick a bushel".

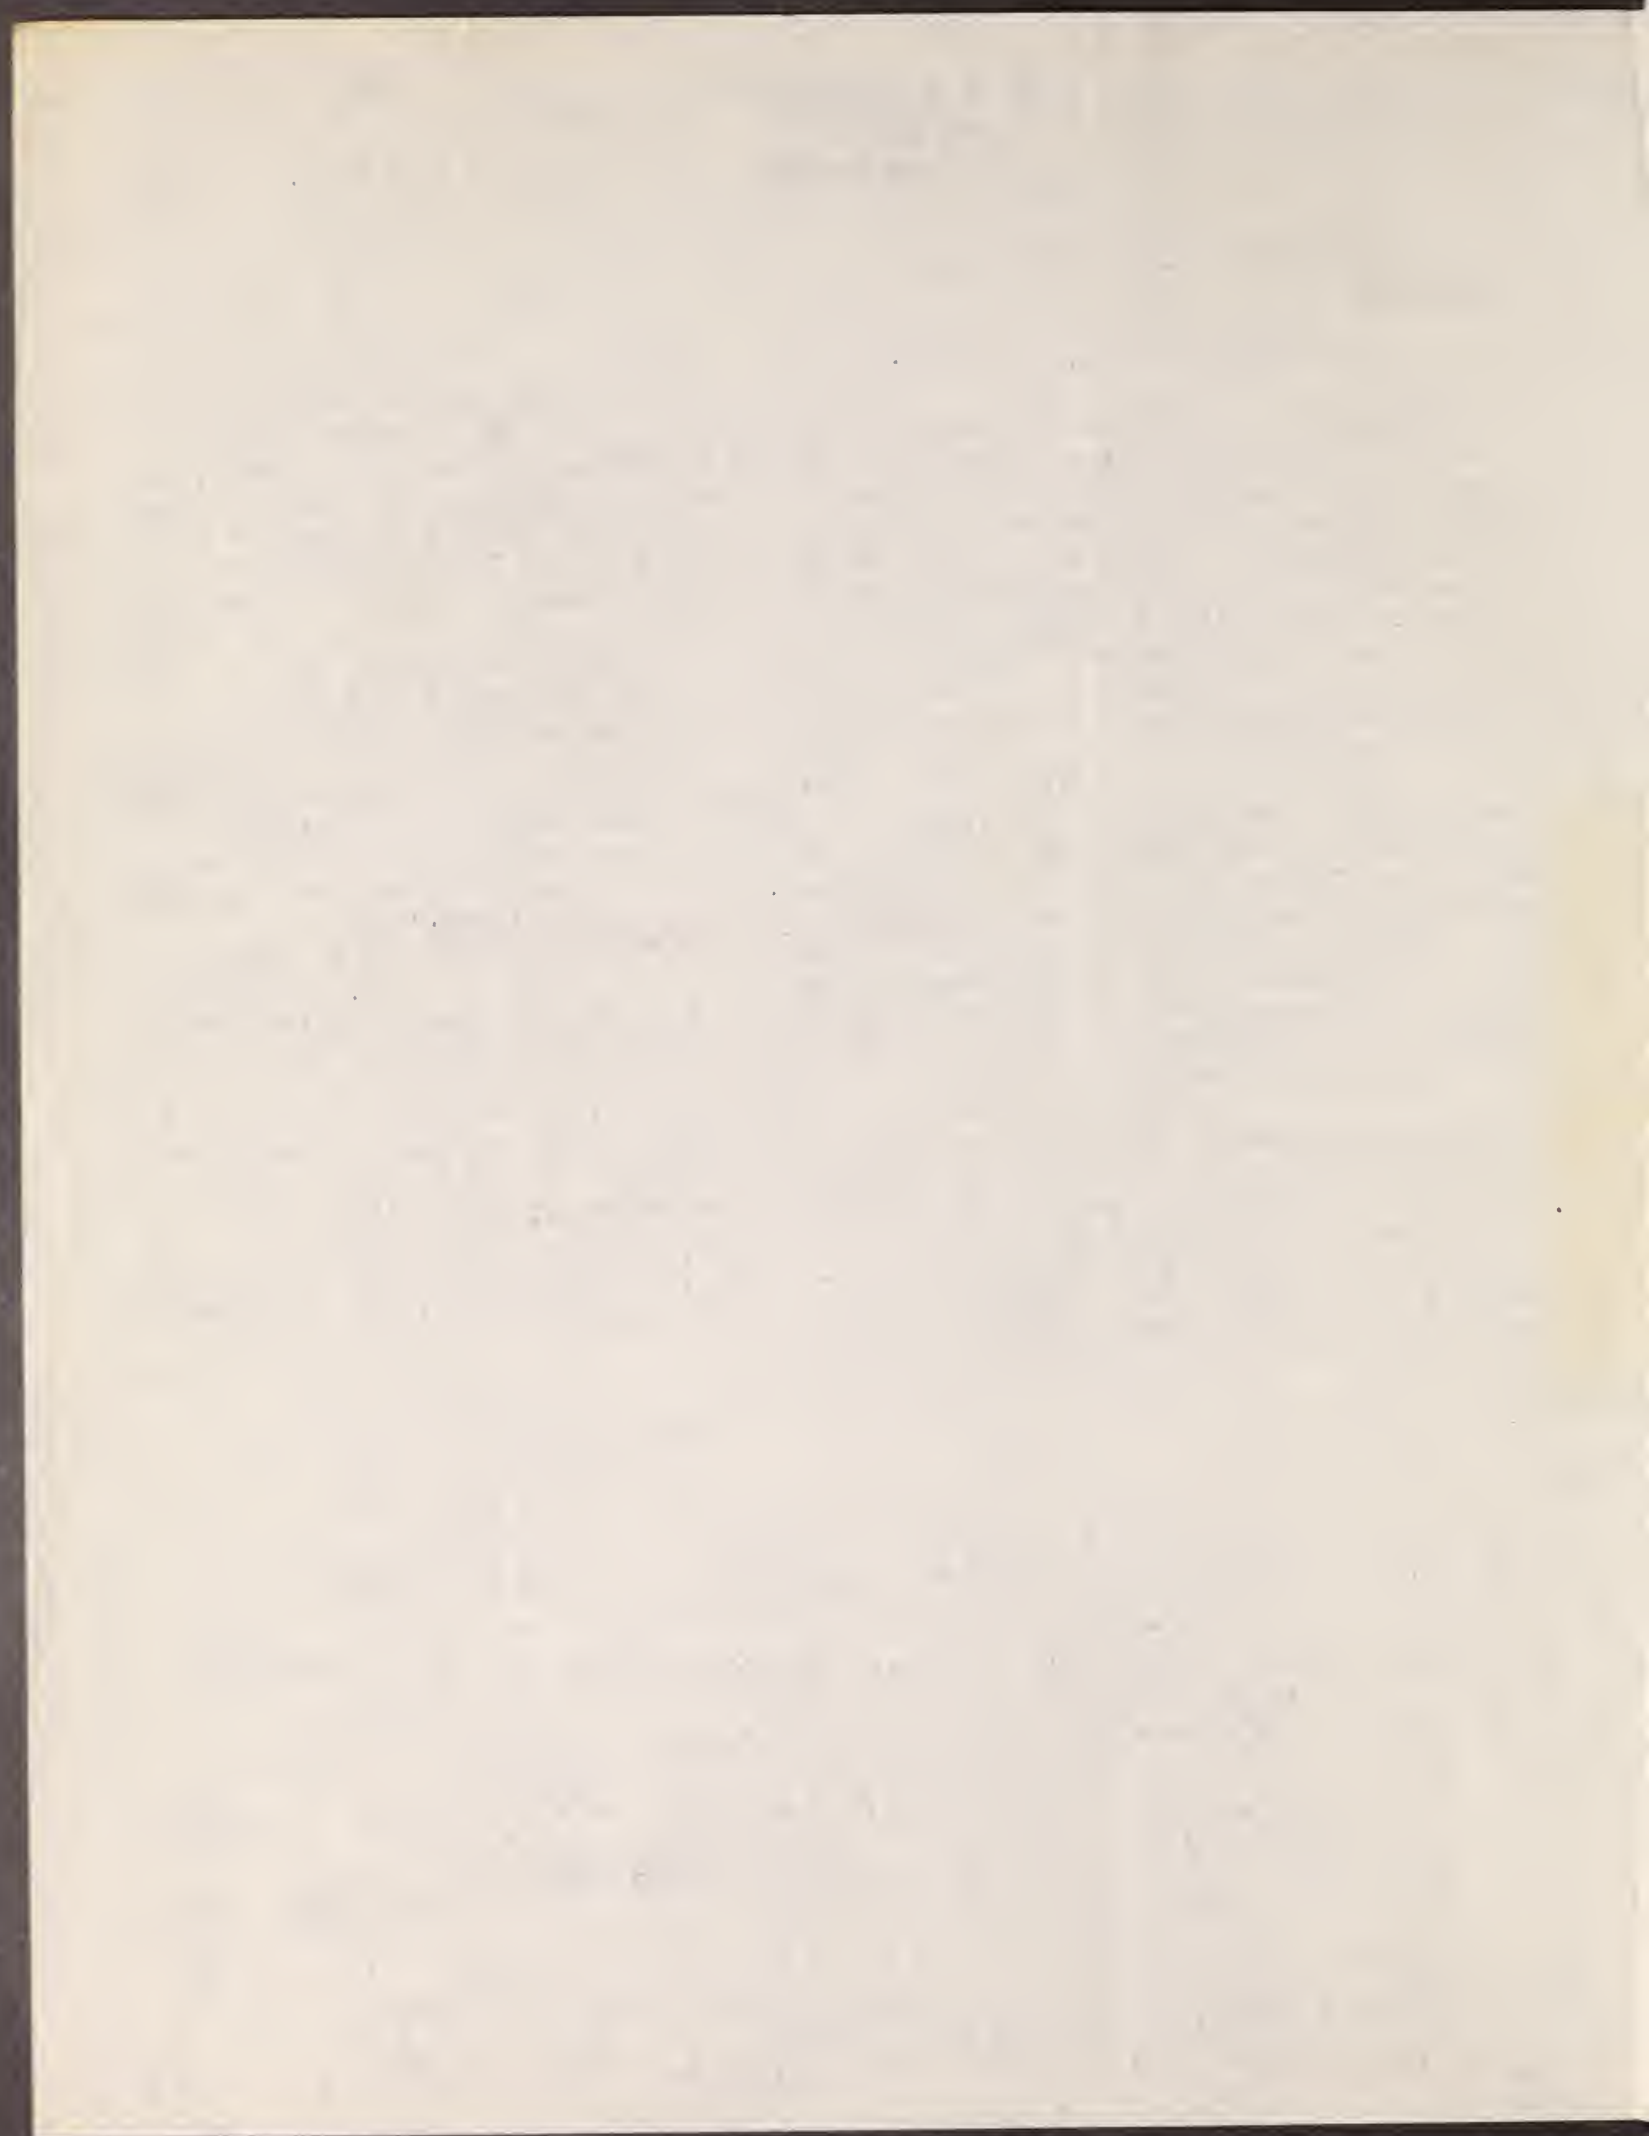

The points in the will that you pointed out are well put and further to your argument there is also the fact that while only seven children are mentioned in the will he says (at the end of Fifth.) re Sarah (my typist made the error of an "o" for an "a" as she did in the last McMurter, quote "if she should not have any then it shall be equally divided between my other seven surviving children:"

Do you suggest that I go to the Hastings Registry Office and ask to see if they have a will for Francis Weese or probate for his estate in Hastings. I am afraid I was very lax in trying to understand this "will" that I didn't realize it's true significance because of some of the remarks made to me by Will Beck who loaned it to me through John Weese.

Because of your information the bits and pieces are beginning to fall into place and I hope to get some more information on the the early "eeses soon that will be of use to you. See you Sunday; by which time , I hope to have acquired "Letter from Phocian to the considerate citizens of New-York," Boston 1784. It is a a defence of the tories right to justice at the close of the Revolutionary War by Hamilton who was, I believe, himself a whig. I also have one of those old Coat of Arms that was above certain public buildings in our youth. Do you think it would be appropriate above the entrance to our museum ?

Sincerely Allan.

N. B. I only have one red head. Also Ethel might be more appropriately referred to as a "Sleepy bones" as her vacation is of a sporadic nature rather than an artist of the scalp with the ~~them~~ she is in intimate terms as the ^{both} dark hands in rubber gloves with Ethel presiding at the head of the table. w. b. w.

Consecon, Ont.,
Feb. 3rd, 1959.

Mr. W. Allan Dempsey,
Box 181,
Belleville, Ont.

Dear Allan:

Was pleased to receive the two copies of The Late Francis Weese's will. He was my Late Grandfather McMurter's Grandfather on his mother's side. Thomas McMurter's father was Thomas McMurter and his mother was Sarah (Weese) McMurter, then Cunningham. I have her picture with Mr. Cunningham. I don't think Sarah had any issue with Cunningham, but I believe Thomas McMurter Sr., had been married and that there were some half brother and sister of Thos. McMurter, Jr.

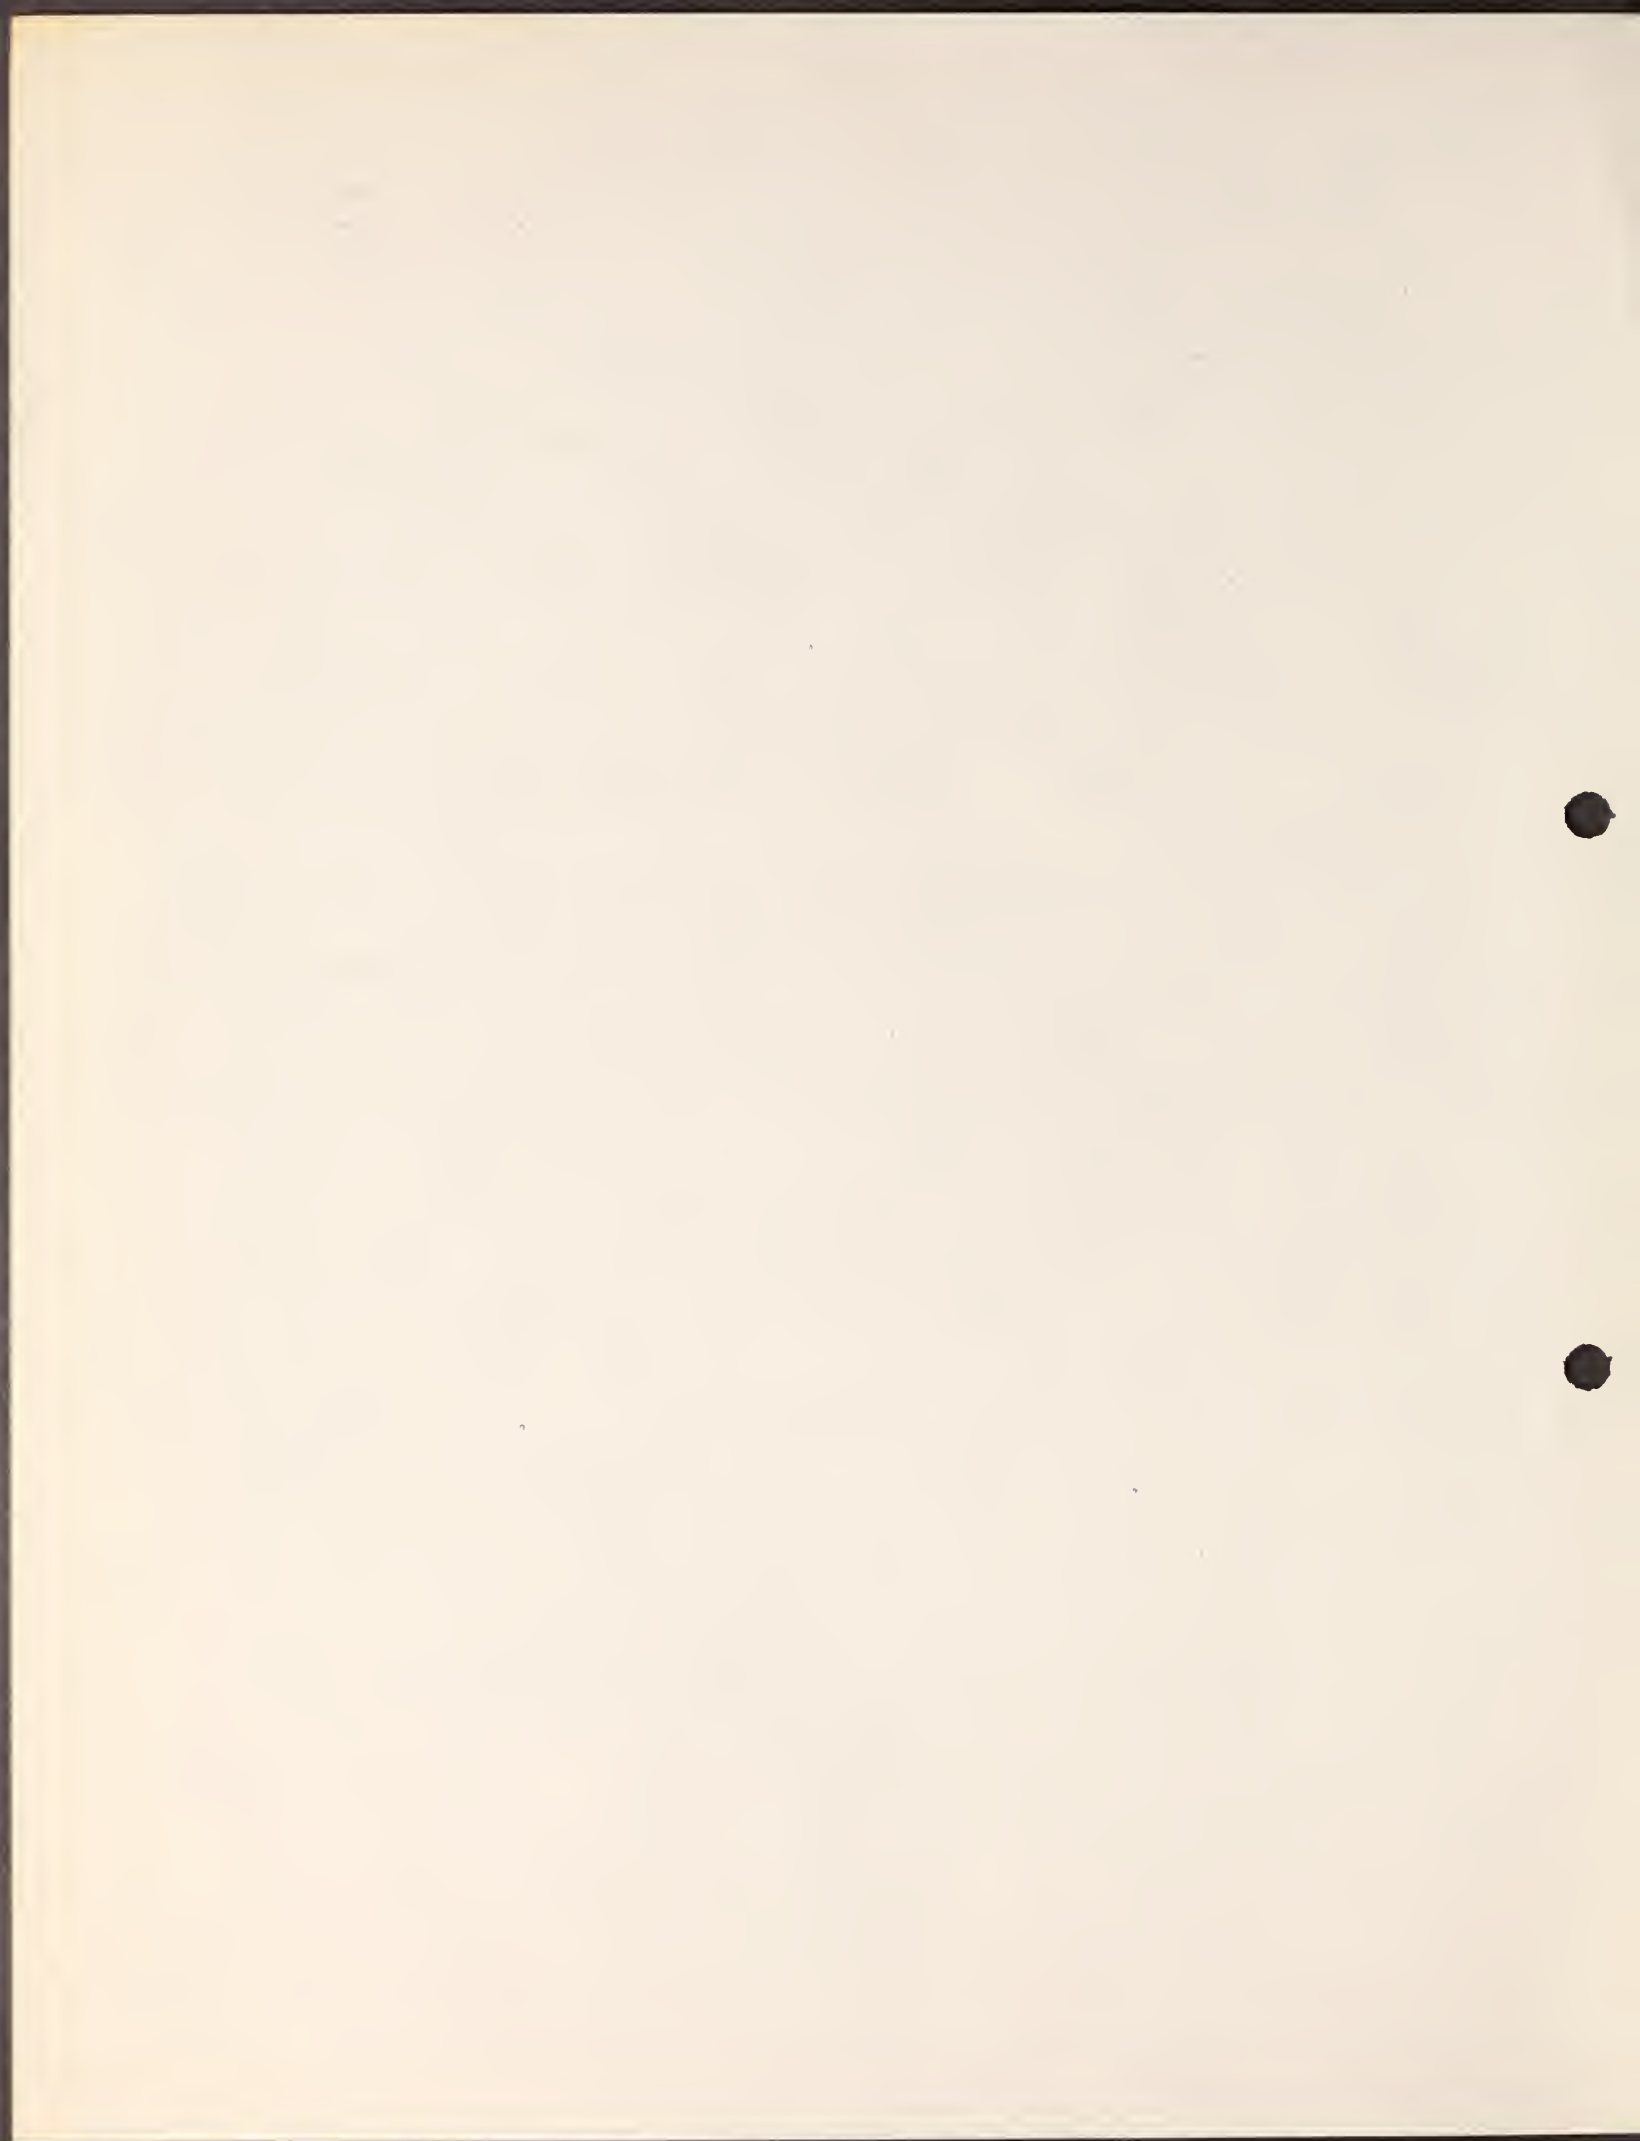

My mother thought a lot of her grandmother Sarah and when our house burned in 1898 she gave mother and Dad a whole bedroom suit, new blankets, sheets, pillows, etc. I was too young to remember, as I was born Sept. 19th, 1897, and they say I nearly burned to death then. Grandfather McMurter died 1st year mother was married, so I never saw him, although I was named after him. He was a school teacher and I have met several older ones who went to school to him and spoke very highly of him as a gentleman and teacher.

Some of my family follow his profession as I have two daughters teaching and my only son also taught school. I also have a daughter a Reg. nurse in Blv. hospital named Shirley (Mikel) Foster. You are a Mikel descendant also.

Yours truly

(signed) Thos. Mikel.

1. General Principles
The first principle of the theory of the firm is that the firm is a collection of individuals who are organized to produce goods and services. The second principle is that the firm is a legal entity that is separate from its owners. The third principle is that the firm is a profit-maximizing organization.

2. The Theory of the Firm
The theory of the firm is a branch of economics that studies the behavior of firms. It is concerned with the decisions that firms make about production, pricing, and investment. The theory of the firm is based on the assumption that firms are profit-maximizing organizations.

3. The Production Function
The production function is a mathematical representation of the relationship between inputs and outputs. It shows how the combination of different inputs (such as labor and capital) can be used to produce a certain amount of output. The production function is a key concept in the theory of the firm.

4. The Cost Function
The cost function is a mathematical representation of the relationship between inputs and costs. It shows how the combination of different inputs can be used to produce a certain amount of output at a certain cost. The cost function is a key concept in the theory of the firm.

5. The Profit Function
The profit function is a mathematical representation of the relationship between inputs and profits. It shows how the combination of different inputs can be used to produce a certain amount of output at a certain profit. The profit function is a key concept in the theory of the firm.

6. The Demand Function
The demand function is a mathematical representation of the relationship between price and quantity demanded. It shows how the price of a good affects the quantity of that good that is demanded. The demand function is a key concept in the theory of the firm.

7. The Supply Function
The supply function is a mathematical representation of the relationship between price and quantity supplied. It shows how the price of a good affects the quantity of that good that is supplied. The supply function is a key concept in the theory of the firm.

of another ; how he went from State to State and from city to city a hard-working, energetic, sanguine, talented man, bearing the curse of irresolution, never constant but to the "seductive and dangerous besetment" of strong drink ; how friends advised with him, and publishers remonstrated ; how at one time he had so far conquered his propensity as to call himself, in a letter to a friend, "a model of temperance and other virtues ;" and how, at another, he forfeited the occupation which was the sole dependence of his little family by frequent relapses into his old disgraceful habits ; how he committed, under the excitement of intoxication, faults and excesses to which no gentleman would plead guilty ; how he borrowed money of his friends without the means or intention of returning it ; how he forfeited the esteem, even while his talents commanded the admiration of the public ; how he succeeded in bringing many literary speculations into life which his vicious habits and inattention to business murdered in their youth ; how he became a confirmed drunkard, with only now and then a fitful hour or so in which to dash off on paper the vagaries of a mind in learning and imaginative fancies ; how his young wife died broken-hearted, and how he became so reduced as to be able no longer to make an appearance among his friends ; how his wife's mother, constant to his falling fortunes and ever anxious to conceal his vices, went with his Mother from office to office, and from publisher to publisher, in search of the means to support him ; how for a little while he shook off the lethargy of intoxication, and again appeared in the polite circles of New York ; how he was harassed, and feted, and congratulated ; how the efforts of his pen were sought by rival publishers ; how he was engaged to be married a second time to a beautiful young woman, and how the engagement was finally broken off through his return to his pernicious habits. It were a weary tale indeed.

The melancholy story of this man's life was soon to close—the golden thread to be rudely snapped asunder—and by his own hand. He had partly recovered from his dangerous course, and was engaged in delivering lectures in different towns in the United States. They were well attended, and it was with something like renewed confidence that the well-wishers of the lecturer watched his conduct, which was now distinguished by extreme sobriety. He even appeared to have renewed his youth and strength ; and it was with pleasure that his friends again received him into their houses. At one of these he met with a lady with whom he had been formerly acquainted. Their friendship was renewed, and they were engaged to be married. Everything seemed to promise well ; the dawn of a better day appeared ; and reformation so long in coming, seemed to have come at last. But it was not to be. On a sunny afternoon in October, in the year 1849, Edgar set out for New York, to fulfill a literary engagement, and prepare for his marriage.

He arrived at Baltimore, where he gave his luggage to a porter, with directions for him to convey it to the railway station. In hour he would set out for Philadelphia. Well, he would take a glass before he started—for refreshment's sake that was all. Oh, fatal hour! In the tavern he met with some old acquaintances, who invited him to join with them. In a moment all his good resolutions—home, duty, bride, honor—were forgotten; and, ere the night had well set in he was in a state of filthy intoxication. Insanity ensued; he was carried to a public hospital; and, on the night of Sunday, the 7th of October, he died a raving madman, without a friend or a child beside his pillow. He was only thirty-eight years of age, when this last dreadful scene of his life-tragedy was enacted.

Not a single circumstance here related, not a solitary event here recorded, but happened to Edgar Allan Poe.

MARRIED,

PECK—FELSAN—On the 20th June, at the residence of Mr. Walter Chadd, Picton, by the Rev. J. MacMechan, Mr. George W. Peck, Savona, N. Y., son of the Rev. James Peck, formerly of Picton to Miss Lizzie Felsan, daughter of the late Robert Felsan, of New London, Connecticut.

—We sorrowfully record the death of Mrs. George Peck, formerly a resident of Picton. We copy the following obituary notice from the Northern Christian Advocate, published at Syracuse, N. Y., May 30, 1878:—

"Mrs. LIZZIE PECK died of consumption in Savona, N. Y., May 11, 1878, aged 22 years.

She was born in the State of Connecticut. When twelve years of age she was left an orphan, and soon after removed with an uncle to Canada. About one year ago she was united in marriage with Mr. George Peck, son of Rev. J. B. Peck, of the Genesee Conference. The deceased was most amiable in disposition and character, manifesting only kindness to all about her. She was reared amid the Christian teaching and hallowed influences of a religious home, and was a regular attendant upon the means of grace. Her sickness was protracted and her sufferings very great, and while for husband and little one she desired to live, yet when it became evident that she must depart, she became fully reconciled to the Divine will, and trusting implicitly in the Savior, came down to the river peacefully, having no fear of death, and gently passed over to be at rest. Her infant daughter, eight weeks of age, followed her on the evening of the 13th, the same day of her burial.

May 15, 1878.

SCIENCE.

BY J. H. H.

What is Science—good or evil?
Bane or blessing to mankind?
Fought with doctrines of the devil,
Or divine truths for the mind?

Does it elevate man's nature,
Teaching him his God to see
In each plantlet, in each creature,
Showing His sublimity?

Or, makes it man atheistic,
Disbelieving Godlike truth,
Hating revelation mystic,
Poisoning the mind of youth?

When man studies science solely,
With naught else to guide the mind,
Then it stops to scorn the holy,
Then debases human kind.

When Religion lends assistance,
And when Reason is its guide,
Then flies evil to a distance,
His way is then defied.

Then can man read God in nature,
In his works His grandeur find,
See how the minutest creature
Has in wisdom been designed.

THE FIRST GLASS.

I had often noticed when we were in any party of pleasure amongst our own companions, how Cyrus Grevson avoided liquor. The merriest occasion, the hottest day, or the coldest evening, found him ever strictly temperate—a cold-water man of the most rigid
